FOOD WARNING OUT

HOOVER'S MESSAGE COMES TO PEOPLE OF NODAWAY COUNTY.

EVERY FAMILY TO HELP

Bruce Kennedy, Representing State Defense Council, Points Out Need For Larger Conservation.

Will America be able to furnish sufficient food supplies for our armies with a surplus to aid the Allies? The answer to that question will be the deciding factor in the war, is the word that has gone out from the food supplies department of the government of which Herbert M. Hoover is the head. The word has come to Nodaway county as it has to every other section of the United States. It is a matter that concerns every individual family and the government is going to expect an answer—is going to rely on the support of every family in this vital question.

Bruce Kennedy, representing the government, coming to Maryville at the instance of the State Council of Defense and State Food Administrator Dean Mumford, gave an insight in a talk Saturday night before an audience in the circuit court room into the great need for food conservation and the elimination of waste in every household, store and shop in the country.

As with others who have seen service in foreign army camps and the suffering and needs of the people of Europe, Mr. Kennedy brought facts that were more startling and described conditions as they really exist, discounting by far the vivid description by war correspondents and news dispatches. Mr. Kennedy urged that the people of Nodaway county come to a fulier appreciation of what the great struggle meant, of the sacrifice it would entail, that the millions in the armies be properly fed and clothed.

"It is going to mean a sacrifice," said the speaker. "Do not comfort yourselves with the thought that the war will be over before our armies get into the fighting. We are not done with Germany yet, by any means. In order to be successful in this war the conservation of our food supplies and the elimination of all waste must be definitely decided on, for unless this is done we are confronted with a shortage in all lines.

Mr. Kennedy explained that Mr. Hoover had worked out a plan whereby every family in the United States would be asked to pledge their efforts to larger conservation of food and the further elimination of waste. Under the direction of Fred P. Robinson, appointed by Mr. Hoover as food director for Nodaway county, pledges will be taken in every family that can be reached, the work to start Monday, October 29, following sermons in all the churches Sunday when every minister in the city will be asked to co-operate in giving publicity to the things Mr. Hoover has decided is necessary to be accomplished.

President Ira Richardson, of the Normal school expressed regret that a much larger audience was not present to hear Mr. Kennedy's address and pledged his efforts along the lines indicated. Fred P. Robinson and E. M. Claypool also spoke briefly, the former urging that those who might be asked to aid in securing the pledges give their time willingly.

BRING OUT YOUR EAR MUFFS

Weather Bureau Announces A Cold Wave is on the Way—Fuel Situation is Serious.

Are your ear muffs in good working condition and your yarn mittens darned. You'll probably need them before morning, for the weather bureau has posted a cold wave warning. Just how low the thermometer will go before morning is a matter for conjecture, but at noon it was on the drop. There is no present indication that there will be any considerable freeze. Fred P. Robinson, of the Welfare board says that applications for help have already begun to come to his office and that the fuel situation at the approach of winter is most serious.

NORMALS VS. DRURY TODAY

Springfield Team Comes Back From St. Louis, After Winning From Catholic University Team.

Following the defeat Saturday of the St. Louis Catholic University foot ball team by the eleven from Drury College, at Springfield, 7-0, there is a deal of speculation as to the outcome of the game today at Springfield between the Maryville Normals and Drury. The big snowunder given the Bearcats in Friday's game, together with the Druryites returning victorious, would seem to presage another defeat for the Maryville team—but here's hoping.

The Normal eleven has the advantage of some practice on the Springfield grounds and two days of rest from their last game, and information comes today that there is going to be a different story to wire home when the game is ended this afternoon.

Glen V. Guthrie Reports to Clerk of Local Draft Board—Wants to Do His "Bit."

Glenn V. Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Guthrie, living five miles northwest of Maryville, reported to Fred Yeomans, clerk of the local draft board this morning for registration under the selective draft law. Mr. Guthrie has been in Manville, Canada for the past seven months, having been employed as a clerk in a bank there. He said this morning that he wanted to do his "bit" along with the other boys who had gone from Nodaway county, and gave up his position to come home and register for service.

Mr. Guthrie says there are very few young men left in Canada, most of them having enlisted for service and are now in Europe.

REMEMBER THEIR VICTORY

High School Assembly This Morning Was Devoted to Arousing Interest in Football.

The High school is having a real celebration today. The students are celebrating the football victory over Savannah last Friday. The victory over Savannah was so decided and unexpected that an assembly was arranged for today to arouse interest in football. The game was discussed, talks were made and football is again the center of interest at the High school. The yells today were given in a manner that bids ill for Stanberry next Friday, when Maryville meets them on Stanberry's field.

W. L. Rhoades of Ravenwood is in Maryville on business today.

TO AID CAMP FUND

MARYVILLE WILL RAISE ITS APPORTIONMENT.

CLUB DIRECTORS ACT

Order Publicity Committee to Get Busy With Plans to Help Provide Recreation for Soldiers.

Maryville is also going to have a part in giving to the War Camp Environs fund that is being raised to provide amusements for the soldiers in the various camps. Maryville and Nodaway county's share is something less than $1,000, and at the weekly Monday dinner of the directors of the Commercial Club today it was decided to start actively at work to raise the apportionment. Harvey L. Haines chairman of the publicity committee was directed to prepare a publicity campaign and get the necessary machinery under way to raise the money.

Amusements(of any kind are scarce at both Camp Funston and at Fort Doniphan. The Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus are doing all they can to provide amusement and entertainment, but the job is a big one.

Nodaway county has its share of men at both places and it is the feeling that we should aid in providing the fund that is needed.

Camp Funston, Kan., Oct. 22.—Camp mothers to look after the welfare of the soldiers and the out-of-town girls, visiting and living in the towns adjacent to army camps, will be provided by the associated clubs of Missouri and Kansas. Mrs. Magdalen Munson, representing the women's clubs, is now in Junction City making arrangements for the camp mothers to begin their work.

Each of the community houses in this vicinity will be provided with a camp mother to act as chaperon and look after the boys in a motherly fashion. One will be stationed shortly at the Junction City community house, another will be placed in Manhattan when the community house there is finished and another in the new home to be built at Junction City.

The daughters of the American Revolution in Missouri raised the first $1,000 to further the camp mother idea.

MANY ENJOY BAND CONCERT

First Indoor Program Drew Large Audience to the Empire Theatre Yesterday Afternoon.

The first indoor concert by the Maryville band drew a large audience at the Empire Theatre yesterday afternoon to listen to a program of more than usual merit including numbers by Miss Bess Scott and Mr. Blaaha, of the Conservatory. The band numbers were heartily appreciated and enthusiastically applauded. The band under the direction of Prof. T. B. Maulding, is showing the same zest as was displayed by the Fourth Regiment organization after their return from the border, which means that there is plenty of "pep" to their playing.

ARE DOING SPLENDID WORK

Oratorio Society Members Get Ready For Public Concert Some Time In December.

The third meeting and rehearsal of the recently organized oratorio society will be held this evening in the recital room at the Conservatory of Music. Director Marcus T. Nielsen says that great work is being done by those who have enrolled and hopes that others may see the benefits to be gained and take part in the work. It is expected that the first public concert will be given sometime during the holiday season about the middle of December. Several well known artists have been invited to take solo parts and on definite acceptance, a date will be announced. The invitation to become a member of the society is open to any person.

Turkey For Separate Peace.

Washington, Oct. 22.—That Turkey as well as Bulgaria, has hinted a willingness to accept separate peace on favorable terms was admitted in diplomatic circles today. Both nations were suspicious of Germany's plan to use them as pawns in the peace game and the visit of the Kaiser to the Sultan did more harm than good is the report.

EXEMPTS NODAWAY FARMER

President Allows Claim of Edw. B. Kennedy of Guilford—Appeal of G. O. Headrick Denied.

The appeal of Edward B. Kennedy of near Guilford, for exemption from service in the national army has been granted by President Wilson in a report received by the district board at Kansas City. The appeal of Garland O. Headrick of Burlington Junction, also made to the president, was denied. Both appeals were said to have been made on agricultural occupation grounds.

In the case of Kennedy, who was certified by the local board and went to Camp Funston with the second contingent on September 19, the board has no record of appeal from its decision. Kennedy made unsupported claim for exemption which was disallowed. Kennedy, it appears, is the only active working head of his household. His mother, the widow of an old soldier, owns a large farm near Guilford. She had no other help than her son and one daughter, the latter being incapacitated for work. His claim was based on the fact that he was the head of the family and the only one to look after their welfare and run the farm.

SCOUT'S BOND CAMPAIGN ON

Members of Troop I Hope to Win A War Service Emblem Offered By the Government.

Boy Scouts started on their five-days campaign of selling Liberty Bonds today, following preliminary work on Saturday and Sunday, when many prospects were interviewed and blank applications were left to be called for this week. Several additional applications were turned in this morning, one Scout devoting his lunch hour from school to secure two applications that had been promised him.

There need be no hesitancy on the part of anyone who has in mind to buy a bond to give any Boy Scout the application. The application is delivered to the bank designated and the subscriber pays only at the bank, the sum required. Each Scout who sells ten or more bonds is given a war emblem, presented in recognition of work done by the United States government. Give the Scouts consideration when they approach you with a proposal to purchase a bond.

WHERE ARE MISSING MEN?

Local Draft Board to Check Up Records in Effort to Locate Men Who Have Not Reported.

The local draft board would like to learn something of the whereabouts of a number of men who were selected for the draft, who have not reported. Not that they are believed to have been deserters, but for the purpose of clearing their names and keeping their record straight.

It is known that many of them enlisted in some branch of the army before they were called by the board, and in this case they cleared their names of any stigma as they had that privilege, but unless a report is made and the records made clear, the men who were drawn and failed or neglected to make the proper certificate they will be entered as "deserters."

The board will check up their lists within a few days and find out how many and who the men are that have neglected to report and efforts will be made to locate them.

Applications are received daily by the local board from persons who want to secure the release from service of some member of the family, but in few instances is the board able to offer any relief.

MANY GERMANS DESERT

12,000 Reported To Have Gone to Switzerland—Must Depend on Bread and Potatoes.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Uprisings on account of food shortage in many Austrian cities is reported in dispatches from Rome, which also says that many women and children have been killed. The Belgian Dageblat, an Austrian paper says that there are 12,000 German deserters in Switzerland.

Copenhagen, Oct. 22.—A strongly censored official report of the discussion of the food condition by the budget committees of the Prussian Diet, the session of which was held behind closed doors, shows that except for the potato crop, which promises to be satisfactory, the food situation is by no means as rosy as the government has been trying to paint it. The grain situation is such that only hope, not certainty, could be expressed that the bread supply will last the entire year, and in any case the present bread ration can be maintained only by the use of surrogates further affecting the quality of the bread, for which flour now is milled to 94 per cent of the grain. Conditions have not permitted improvement of the flour by less exhaustive milling.

Bread and potatoes will be the bulk of the rations, as the meat allowances will almost certainly be reduced. Milk and butter, will be available even in scantier amounts than now, when infants' milk allowance has had to be reduced.

The Germans have taken five of the six islands commanding the entrance to the Gulf of Riga, with all of the Russian fleet that was not trapped turning northward instead of into the gulf. There is intense artillery and aerial activity west of Berlin and reports are that there is increased artillery activity on the Macedonian front. Six German air machines were shot down in a British air raid over the Teuton lines in Belgium Sunday.

According to the Government crop report for October there is no danger of starving in Missouri or in the United States at least this winter. The composite condition of all crops on October first, or at the time of harvesting, was 2.4 per cent higher than the average for the past ten years. The final yields last year were 4.9 below the average and 7.7 per cent above the average this year.

The total production of the leading crops this year as compared with last year is as follows: Corn, 124.3; wheat, 103.1; oats, 126.3; barley, 111.5; rye, 118.1; buckwheat, 151.1; potatoes, 158.7; sweet potatoes, 123; hay, 83.5; apples, 87.3. From which it will be seen that hay and apples are the only crops that have fallen below last year's standard while the remaining ones are much above, potatoes yielding 58 per cent more than last year.

The prices paid to the producers of the principal crops are on the average 69.3 per cent higher than one year ago and 101.1 per cent higher than the average for the past nine years on October first. Meats are bringing the producer 81.2 per cent more than the average for the past seven years on September 15th.

The 1917 crop of wheat shows a surplus estimated at 77,696,000 bushels while the bean crop shows a total of 15,814,000 bushels against a crop of 8,846,000 bushels last year. The cabbage crop totals 691,920 tons against 252,310 last year.

It is a matter worthy of note that the composite condition of crops on October first shows Missouri at the head of the list. As compared with an average, Missouri crops this year are 124.6 per cent, the highest of any state in the Union. Some thirty-two states raised more than average crops this year, while Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, South Dakota, Kentucky, Ohio, Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island show an average of 110 per cent or better. In Kansas the average is only 91 and in Oklahoma 89.2 per cent. These states are, however, prospering bountifully in the increased production of oils. The composite average crop yield for the whole of the United States is 102.4, or 2.4 per cent above the ten-year average. The economies in the consumption of food stuffs and the decreased wastage now being urged and generally practiced both because of the necessities of the case and the high prices, will increase the surplus very materially and guarantee great quantities for export.

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeton, N. J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 322 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

Woman's Inexperience

Owing to the inexperience of most women concerning business matters, they should have the advice of a good Trust Company in matters of Insurance, Mortgages, Leases, Wills, Deeds, Etc.

If the FARMERS TRUST COMPANY is the executor of the husband's estate, all these matters which involve so much detail and care, will be done accurately and legally so that the wife will not have to worry. This will be of great value to every woman.

HURLEY HUSTLES AND BUILDS SHIPS

Chairman of the United States Shipping Board is Getting the Job Done in Record Time.

(By E. V. Harris).

Washington, Oct. 20.—Ask President Wilson whom he considers his most dynamic, driving lieutenant in the prosecution of the nation's war aims and nine chances out of ten he will answer "Edward N. Hurley." Not that it would be an easy matter to pick out the hardest-working bundle of energy enlisted in the Government's war work, for there are dozens, even hundreds, of men in Washington who can accomplish more in less time than ninety-nine out of every hundred men in the country. But Hurley not only does things—you know he is doing them.

As chairman of the United States Shipping Board Mr. Hurley tackled one of the biggest and hardest jobs the President had to bestow. Before the President put him in office he weighed his qualities, then called him into conference and told him just what a big job lay before him and that he would be expected to go through without a hitch. Mr. Hurley said he would. A few days later he took the reins.

When Hurley first took his place at the head of the Shipping Board about the extent of his knowledge of ships was that they were hollow and floated and carried cargoes. The controversies between his predecessor, William Denman, and General Goethals, head of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, had not served to leave the affairs of the board in very good shape for a novice to handle. But Mr. Hurley buckled down, asked a lot of questions and got a fair idea of what it meant to build ships. Then he said something like this:

"I don't know a darn thing about building ships, but I do know that the United States has got to have them, and I am going to see that she gets them. There are plenty of experts to take care of the technical side, and I will see that the experts are on the job and keep moving."

Then Mr. Hurley held a long conference with Admiral Capps, chief of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The men sized up each other, smiled in a satisfied way and shook hands. There was nothing said just then, but both men understood that no clashes of authority, no technicalities and no little matters of etiquette would be allowed to retard the Government's shipbuilding plans.

With a full understanding between himself and Admiral Capps, the new chairman, fairly bristling with energy, began to make things hum. He surrounded himself with men just as forceful and earnest as himself; he conferred with all the big shipping men in the country; he made new plans for speeding up work; smoothed out wrinkles that had retarded the old program — In short, he was there and everywhere, giving a shoulder to the wheel whenever and wherever occasion seemed to demand. He tackled every problem fearlessly and quickly let the shipbuilders, shipowners, contractors and labor unions know that he was working for Uncle Sam, and would not be bluffed or bullied by anybody. He assured everyone a square deal, and in return demanded that Uncle Sam be given the same consideration. And he mostly is getting what he demands.

Mr. Hurley does not have much to say, but when he says it he means it, and people move quickly. If President Wilson told him it would be necessary to dig up the State of Texas and move it to Europe in one piece, Mr. Hurley would tackle the job — and very likely would find some way to accomplish the task.

And that is the reason why the United States will have something like 10,000,000 deadweight tons of carrying capacity on the seas by next spring with which to ship troops and supplies to Europe to win the war.

TIME FOR GIFTS IS SHORT

Shipping Space Also Is Limited, Mrs. E. F. Brown, of St. Louis, Tells Red Cross Members.

All Christmas packages for soldiers in Europe must be in St. Louis, the headquarters for the Southwest division of the American Red Cross, by November 15, according to Mrs. Edmund F. Brown of St. Louis, director of the women's work of this division.

Gifts for soldiers in the cantonments in this country may be forwarded later. Mrs. Brown also gives warning that necessities only would be sent, owing to the lack of shipping space.

Specific directions are given concerning surgical dressings. She states that a commission was appointed in this country to visit the camps in France to learn just what the needs were and that this commission has given exact directions to be followed by all who are preparing surgical dressings for the Red Cross. As new needs arise additional directions will be given by the commission.

All kinds of articles are being sent now to the battle fronts of France. Later it will be possible to send articles to the camps in this country, but at present the European demand is imperative.

Mrs. Brown points out that if the story of the needs at the front could be told to every woman, she was positive that the women of the country would devote at least half their time to Red Cross work. Conditions are improved, compared with what they were at first, but even now every available supply is needed.

The children can help, said Mrs. Brown. They can cut squares of canton flannel or other "wooly" cloth, about two inches square, which can be used to send to the soldiers in the cantonments in this country for priming their guns.

FALL OF A PILLAR

By E. RASBURY.

"Miss Lena, you sholy is lookin' good in dat white wropper. You look too nice to wurk. I'll come up to de house by-an-by an' straighten up. You jes' res' yo'self."

When Judy expressed admiration for me or was solicitous of my comfort, I immediately experienced a vague feeling of impending trouble.

"I mos' forgot dat yaller Sallie is on de back porch waitin' to see yer."

"Which yellow Sallie?"

Yellow Sallies are as plentiful on an Arkansas plantation as roses in June.

"Dat hyf'lutin' nigger what calls herself Sadie." With a snort of contempt and a high head she trudged off to the kitchen humming: "De fire will ketch you sinner, run."

"Good mornin', Miss Lena," said a neat looking yellow girl, as I came down the back veranda. "Miss Lena, I'se in a little trubble an' I wants you to help me outen it. I'se named Sadie, an' I helps Liza wid yo' clo'es eve'y week."

"Very well, Sadie, what is the nature of your trouble?" I felt no surprise at the request, as I had held the office of peace restorer for the plantation during the ten years of my happy married life.

"Ole Judy's at de bottom uv it," glancing indignantly at the open kitchen door; "dey call her a mournin' shepard, a pillar of de church, but I calls her a straight out old hatian, I does, an' if she warn't ole 'nough to be my mammy I'd play a chune on her neck."

Sadie's anger was evidently growing as she prepared to relate her woes, and as I heard an ominous snort from the kithen I thought it advisable to have the story quickly and be done with it.

"It's dis way, Miss Lena," resumed Sadie. "Eve'y body knows me an' Manuel has been fixin' to get mah'd for some two years; but since he has been wurkin' round de house here and under de 'fluences of dat old hatian, his love has been a coolin' an' a coolin'. So Liza, she ups an' says he been conjured, somebody's put a hat in his bed. I tried not to b'lieve her, but 'fore Gawd, Miss Lena, when Sabbath after Sabbath went by an' Manuel either jes' stopt at de gate as he past gwine to church, or didn't come 'bout a tall, I jes' got a thinkin' it an' warn't hardly able to eat nothin'. Liza, she jes' kep' on 'bout de conjur, tell I jes' couldn't stan' it no longer. So me an' Liza puts out over to Mannel's hous' 'hen we was sho he was in de fiel' at work. What do you rec'on I foun' dere, Miss Lena?"

I could not imagine.

"They wus three bokays on de tabul, a pair uv yo' ole lace curtains 'dorning der winders, a pair uv Mr. John's slippers under de bed, some cake I mos' know cumd from de big hous', 'cause 'twas in one uv your bes' white napkins, an' a photograf uv dat ole hag a hangin' on de wall."

"Well, Sadie," said I, a new light dawning on me, "since you love Manuel and want to marry him, why don't you put pretty fixings in his house? You are younger and better looking than Judy, you know."

"Yes, I knows, Miss Lena, but I isn't got nothin' perty. Now, if you'd give me er old tidy I'd put it on his chear and try it."

I signaled my willingness.

"While you'se in de house, please ma'am, gimme a little harts-horn for Liza's haid."

I begun to search for old finery, dreaming the while of helping Sadie to beat Judy at her own game, thereby smoothing the course of true love. Gathering up the "find" and the ammonia bottle, I went back to the veranda to discover a living moving mass on the floor, composed of kicking feet, bobbing heads and flying hands.

Sadie hoisted the white flag with a shriek. Judy, the ancient, arose winded, but triumphant and silently resumed her daily avocation as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

The crestfallen Sadie took the things I handed her and disappeared.

The next morning "the mistress was also the maid." As I was toiling over the midday meal in walked Sadie, smiling and happy.

"You jes' go to de hous', Miss Lena," she said, "I'll finish de dinner. De mournin' shepard won't be here—no she won't be here soon."

Sadie laughed mysteriously. "Last night I seed Judy an' my Manuel come into de church arm in arm, an' my blood pintedly biled, I tells yer. Presently Brother Jarrett, he calls mourners an' we all sings, 'fire will ketch you, sinner, run.'

"Manuel goes up to de mourners' bench wid a lot more men. Den out falls de shepard in er trance—like daid. I puts de bottle of harts-horn in my pocket, an' goes up too. We mourned a long time, and Brother Jarrett, he say, 'Why doan yo' pray, don't be stiff necked an' keep de shepard preconscious all night.' Den we all went to whar she lay and dropt on our knees to mourn an' pray. I cotched de shepard lookin' at Manuel outen de corner ob her eye, so I comes through an' falls out, bringin' Liza down wif me on de top ob de shepard. Miss Lena, somehow dat harts-horn got in de shepard's eyes, an' mouf, an' nose, an' she comes to 'mazin' quick. Yessum, you jes' g'long to de house outen de heat, me an' Manuel ten' to de wurk."

Bodily Housekeeping

(By SAMUEL HAMILTON, M. D.)

The subject of drinking water with meals has been misunderstood.

In recent years investigation by means of X-rays, the observations of scientists such as Cannon, Grutzner, Pavlov, Fowler, Hawk, prove that an abundance of water taken during digestion is necessary in good bodily housekeeping. Drink plenty of water with each meal. Do not drink ice-water at any time.

If your kidneys are sick, or you suffer with lumbago or rheumatism at times, pain in the back or back of the neck, take a little Anuric before meals. This can be found at any good drug store. Therefore my advice to young or old is, always drink plenty of pure water. And for long life occasionally take tablets of Anuric three or four times a day.

A ST. LOUIS WOMAN

St. Louis, Mo.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I suffered for some time with woman's weakness which caused me to become very nervous and run-down and 'Favorite Prescription' cured me and brought me back to good health. I also suffered with piles; could not get anything that would give relief until I began using Dr. Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment and it soon relieved me of this ailment. I found 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Anodyne Pile Ointment' most wonderful medicines for the above mentioned ailments."—MRS. CLARA CARMELICH, 4353 Hunt Avenue.

WHERE ALL WILL HELP WAR

Extra Charge On First Class Mail Will Bring In Big Revenue For the Government.

Here is where every person is going to do his or her "bit" in helping Uncle Sam to wage a war against the hated Huns—by contributing an extra sum of money on all first class mail. For this is one feature of the war tax measure which goes into effect November 1. And from the extra charge on all first class mail, Uncle Sam expects to raise a vast sum of money.

Rich and poor alike will contribute their share in this manner. Of course, the big concerns will be hit harder than smaller concerns, and individuals, for they send out a greater amount of first class mail.

It is going to cost more to send all foreign mail—that is, all first class mail sent out of a city or town. For instance, a letter sent to Kansas City now costs two cents. That is you place a two-cent stamp on it. But after November 1, it will cost three cents. There will be no change in the cost of drop letters where they are of the first class. If you already have a large supply of stamped envelopes on hand, you still can use them, but you will have to place an extra one-cent stamp on the envelope. It will be necessary to place a one-cent stamp on a postcard where it is sent out of the city. If you fail to place the proper amount of postage on a letter it will be held for postage. After November 1, when you buy stamped envelopes, it will cost you more. Now you can buy two two-cent stamped envelopes for a jitney. They will cost you seven cents after November 1, or four for thirteen cents instead of nine cents, as at the present. But remember, nothing but first class mail will be effected.

Weekly Financial Review of New York Banking House Says Liberty Bonds Are Best Investment.

New York, Oct. 22.—The influence of the war upon finance and industry becomes more intense every day, says the Weekly Review of Henry Clews & Co., bankers. At the moment it overshadows every other factor, and the country is completely absorbed in bending every energy to the preservation of democracy. In keeping with this spirit the financial community is strenuously pushing the Liberty Loan, which promises to be a complete success; the applications having already approached nearly $2,000,000,000. In all probability the loan will be well over-subscribed. This is highly encouraging. As we have already stated, these bonds as an investment are the safest and best in the world. Within a few years, if not sooner, they will sell at a handsome premium, and it is an imperative duty for every citizen to assume his share of the financial responsibility in conducting the war by subscribing i nproportion to his ability.
